

Police And Fire Protection Are Outlined For Incorporated City

Leslie Kerr, of the taxation and revenue committee of the committee for Campbell incorporation, submitted the following report to the taxation committee on police and fire protection for the inhabitants of the proposed city of Campbell. The report includes suggested figures for expenditures in the two departments. The text of Kerr's report follows:

Police and fire protection will be the largest and most expensive service to be assumed by the new city of Campbell. And, it is respectfully suggested that one of the council members adopt this service as his "baby" and thus in time become a specialist who can prescribe the correct treatment in case of illness.

The Campbell fire house contains ample space for joint use as headquarters by both the fire and the police departments. It is a new building costing about $28,000. The present indebtedness against this building is a bank loan of $8625, but provision is made in the Campbell Fire District budget for 1951-52 to liquidate all indebtedness. Hence, the town of Campbell will fall heir to a tax-free property upon completion of its incorporation as a city.

Various items of office and other equipment will be needed, but no attempt is made herein to specify the requirements. The incoming fire and police chiefs are better qualified to make this selection and, as a matter of fact, a layman is presumptuous when he attempts to select the working tools for a specialist.

Not expressed here would be any saving that might be obtained through jointly maintained offices such as possible employment of a day and night clerk to receive and transmit fire and police calls instead of dual assignments of fire and police officers; single office and equipment requirements; utilities serving both departments; etc.

FIRE DEPARTMENT

An efficient fire department supplied with ample fire-fighting apparatus will add to the peace of mind of every local resident in the knowledge that he, his loved ones, and his property are protected by modern methods and efficient equipment. Furthermore, every property owner will receive the added benefit of lower insurance rates and a lessening of risk-losses due to fire damage.

Estimates contained in previously published budget proposals assume continuation of fire fighting protection at approximately present standards. That includes one central station, two fully equipped trucks, ample hose, and 20 or more volunteers with two full-time officers, possibly one or more part-time officers. The equipment, valued at around $12,000, is fully paid for and the fire station will be debt-free as stated in second paragraph of this thesis.

There seem to be no complaints nor any justification for change in either management or methods now employed. The writer's only suggestion is: "These fellows know how to run this department efficiently and economically. Why interfere?"

The 1951-52 budget of the Campbell Fire Department provides for a tax rate of $0.369 per $100 of assessed valuation. And:

Cash on hand at July 1, 1951$2,986
Tax levy, 1951-5214,800 $17,786

AUTHORIZED EXPENDITURES

Maintenance and operation$4,600
Capital Outlays1,300
Building loan8,625 $14,525

Possible balance at July 1, 1952.....$3,261

Note—Monthly average $383. Includes $400 salaries.

If the town of Campbell becomes incorporated not later than February 1, 1952, and if the building loan was either renewed or not paid off, there would be available:

Unexpended authorizations ($383x5)$1,915
Theoretical balance3,261
Building loan8,625
City budget allowance2,000

Total available for use by city$15,801

All or any portion of the $15,801 would be available for use by the fire department and the remainder could be used for general city purposes. Except that beginning with February 1, 1952, provision must be made for continued operation of the fire department.

The following tabulation shows expenditures by three Santa Clara County fire departments. The 1951-52 budgets are also shown:

	Campbell	Milpitas	Saratoga

POLICE DEPARTMENT

The proposition advanced herein assumes among other things, that:

The citizens of Campbell desire adequate and efficient police protection and are willing to supply modern facilities and equipment; Campbell fire station will be used as headquarters by the police department; and,

The erection of a jail is not immediately necessary as other arrangements are possible.

Temporarily at least, it would seem to be advisable to make contract arrangements with some nearby city or the county to furnish jail service instead of immediate erection of a suitable structure. The most desirable locality would depend largely on set-up under the recent court enactment.

The cost of jail service should be nominal if citation and summons methods were employed, wherever possible, in lieu of booking prisoners, and if, persons placed under arrest are cited for violations of state laws, (whenever reasonable) instead of city ordinances.

The attendant estimates are based on requirements of a population of 10,000. In case the actual population at time of incorporation is less than that number, then reduce the allowances by five percentum for each deficiency of 1000 in population and adjust accordingly. Except that, of course, costs of capital items cannot be reduced on percentage basis, but must either be eliminated entirely or substituted by adoption of some alternative. As for example, assume the population of Campbell will be 8,000, then deduct ten percent from the $26,000 budget estimate and consider $23,400 ($26,000 less 10 percent or $2,600) as the new budget.

This reduction of $2,600 could be accomplished by elimination of one patrolman, or in other ways, ad infinitum.

The component parts of the previously suggested budget proposal include these special items:

CAPITAL OUTLAYS
Patrol car, fully equipped	$2,200
2-way radio	900
Motorcycle, fully equipped	$1,200
2-way radio	600
Office equipment	500
PERSONNEL
Chief	$3,600
Sergeant	3,300
3 patrolmen	9,000
3 patrolmen, part time	1,500
MAINTENANCE AND OPERATION
Motor vehicle supplies	$350
Repairs and replacements	200
Office supplies*	300
Office supplies	100
Telephone and telegraph	300
Insurance	750
Miscellaneous	200
CONTINGENCIES	$2,000
Total allowance	$28,000

Note*—Ammunition, flashlights, handcuffs, nightsticks, etc.

The first items on the agenda is procurement of new patrol and officer equipment. It is contemplated that the patrol car and the motorcycle will be late models, fully equipped with all necessary appliances, to include efficient 2-way radios. It is possible, of course, to use second-hand models, to dispense with the radios, and to eliminate one or both of the motor vehicles. It is also possible to rent a privately-owned car on a mileage basis, and to purchase cheaper radios. But, is is questionable if any of these substitutions would prove to be altogether satisfactory or to result in actual economy.

No attempt is made here to specify nature of equipment actually needed. There was such a wide divergence of opinion expressed by the several experts consulted that the writer could not reach a definite conclusion as to necessity and simply applied $500 as a tentative allowance. It may or may not be advisable to install radio apparatus.

The matter of police-officer selection should receive careful and deliberate consideration as well as screening as to capability, moral turpitude, maturity of judgment, etc. Even a single rooker among such Henley, superintendent of the Campbell School District, reminded residents of the district today that the schools of the district, San Tomas, Moorpark and Campbell Grammar, will open September 17. Children will attend the first full day of school on that date. Kindergarten thru the third grade in Campbell Grammar school will be on half-day sessions, however. Kindergarten through second grade in Moorpark will also be on a half-day schedule as will be two classes of the San Tomas school.

Endorse Proposed District Hospital

Fourteen physicians practicing in the Los Gatos-Campbell-Saratoga area, roughly comparable to the boundaries of the West Valley Hospital District, have endorsed the proposed hospital project at a meeting held last week. The doctors voiced a unanimous approval of the hospital and a "yes" vote at the coming hospital bond election on September 18 was recommended.

Plans for the hospital were reviewed and methods of encouraging a favorable vote at the election were discussed. Only four of the 18 doctors within the district were absent from the meeting.

The group expressed a willingness to answer any questions on the hospital project that residents might wish clarified.

Campaign For 'Radio Free Europe' Gets Under Way In Campbell Today

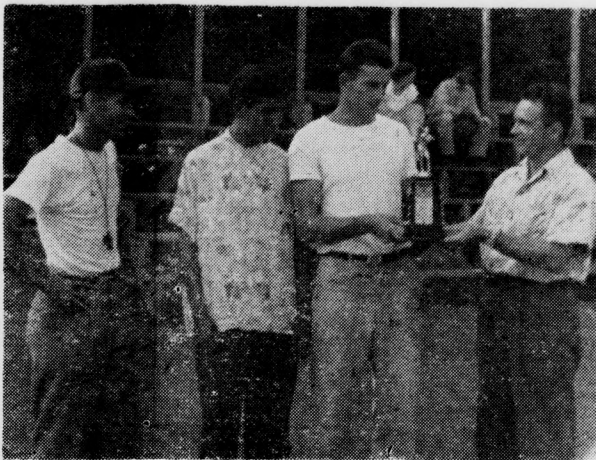

A campaign to raise funds to finance a radio station now beamed at Iron Curtain listeners, got under way in Campbell today. The Campbell drive, a portion of the countywide Crusade for Freedom to finance Radio Free Europe, will last until September 30.

The Campbell chairman stated that solicitations will be made in the schools, on the street and from booths. Fred Jones is in charge of contacting merchants and stores. Larry Hill will arrange speakers for the drive. The American Legion Auxiliary will operate a booth under the direction of Mrs. Arnold Olson with Mrs. Carl Olson and Mrs. Clarence Fagade occupying the booth. A VFW Auxiliary booth under the direction of Mrs. Esther Sargent will also be operated. The booths will be placed near the American Trust Co. and on the corner of Winchester road and Campbell avenue. Booths will be open Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 12 and from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m.

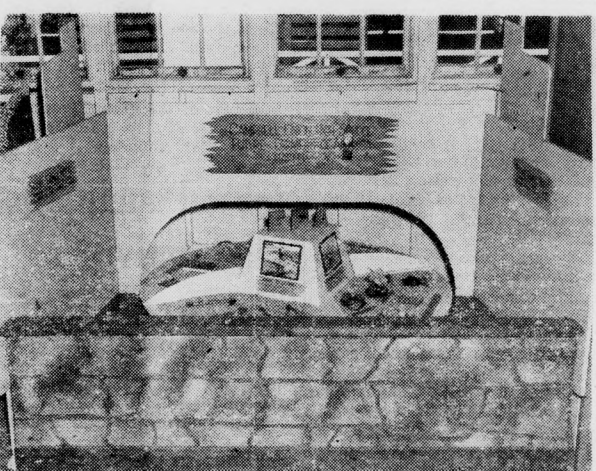

The Crusade for Freedom was originated by General Lucius Clay to bring the truth to peoples residing behind the Iron Curtain.

Last year's contributions to the drive enabled the construction of a 700,000 watt station in Munich, competing with Radio Prague and Radio Bratislava in broadcasts to Czechoslovakia.

This year's campaign will finance the continued operation of the Munich station and will enable the erection of another station on the Radio Free Europe network.

INCORPORATION QUESTION AND ANSWER COLUMN

(Ed. Note—The following questions submitted by the Business and Professional Women's Club of Campbell have been answered by members of the general committee of the Campbell Incorporation Committee. Several questions asked will be answered in next week's edition of the Press. The publishers of this newspaper will gladly obtain any answer to any question pertinent to incorporation.)

A. The maximum property tax rate for a sixth class city is set by law at $1.00 per $100 assessed valuation. However, it is not necessary for a municipality to establish the $1.00 rate unless needed. Any portion of the maximum rate prescribed by law may be used.

Q. How would incorporation affect our school districts?

A. Establishment of a sixth class city would in no way affect our school districts. The establishment of a charter form of government, however, would change the districts to conform with the boundaries of the city unless it was determined in the charter that the school districts remain as they were before adoption of a charter.

Q. What approximate amount could be set aside for our (if incorporated) Supt. of Streets?

A. We interpret this question to refer to the superintendent of streets salary. In a suggested budget for the city of Campbell, the annual salary of the street superintendent is $8,000.

The directors told the group of the growth of the district during the last several years, emphasizing the fact that recent governmental surveys have shown Santa Clara county is short more than 500 hospital beds. "West Valley Hospital District is an area of about 80 square miles with a population of over 55,000 people. That portion of the county has only the county hospital to serve its needs."

The building programs of the O'Connor and Community Service Hospitals will only add approximately 160 beds. In the meantime, the population continues to increase. The two directors pointed out that Santa Clara county has increased 113,000 in population during the past ten years; Redwood township has increased 126 percent and Saratoga township has increased 129 percent. "In spite of this increase in population of the district, the hospital bed space has failed to increase by one bed."

The directors continued, stating that the school administrators in the district have had to meet the growing influx of students with more and larger building programs. "Hospital expansion has in no way kept pace with the population increase."

"It is only necessary," the directors continued, "to talk to doctors or people with hospital experience to know the seriousness of the hospital shortage."

They pointed out that the proposed plan was in line with the government's civilian defense plans of decentralization.

The two told their audience of the proposed plan for the hospital. "With ten acres of level land bought at a fair price, there is plenty of room for expansion. The hospital will be located in the center of the district as to population and will be easily accessible from all areas."

"The building will be modern and complete, designed to be built at a maximum cost yet containing major and minor surgeries, x-ray, laboratory, delivery rooms, pediatric wards, nursery, emergency facilities and other equipment and facilities necessary for the successful operation of a hospital."

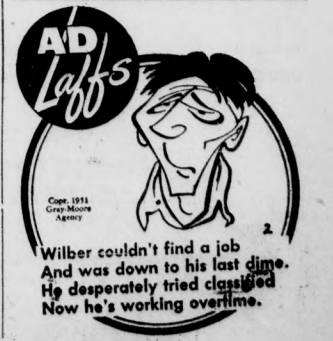

The directors outlined the cost of the hospital to the people of the district saying that estimates of cost had been made liberal in view of rising costs. "Actual costs are estimated as: $16,500 for land, $105,000 for equipment, $560,000 (Continued on Page 8)

Russel Rinauro Bags Antelope

Russel Rinauro of Latimer avenue, Campbell bagged an antelope Sunday morning on Goose Lake, just south of the Oregon border. Rinauro, who had left Thursday morning with his wife and family for the Goose Lake country, had received an approval of his application earlier last week.

Rinauro had taken an earlier shot at the same antelope and had wounded it. He trailed the antelope for several hours before losing it and returning to his car. Later in the morning, he saw another herd in the lake bed and recognized the same animal. He left the car and attempted to creep up on the herd but they became frightened and started to run. Rinauro stood up and took a shot at the fleeing beast and brought it down with a hit in the hind-quarters. The animal dressed out at 102 pounds.

Rinauro had been out on several deer hunting expeditions before trying his hand at antelope, but had failed to bring in a kill.

Campbell Resident Tells Of Trips Through European Lands This Year

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last of two articles telling of Miss Eleanor McConnell's travels in Europe during her year of duty as a teacher in the American Dependents' School in Munich, Germany. Miss McConnell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. O. McConnell, both of whom have businesses in Campbell.)

Following her return from a tour of Italy, Egypt, Greece, and the Near East, Eleanor McConnell made another trip this summer to Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Scotland, England and Ireland.

Miss McConnell's group left Munich by car and traveled through the British Zone of Germany to Keil and then into Denmark. She stated that she was greatly impressed by the cleanliness of the Baltic country and the quality and quantity of the food served there. "All the restaurants served excellent food at very reasonable prices. The country seemed very little damaged by the war," she described the habit of the Danes of placing plants in each of the windows of their homes, so that often a house looked as though it had flowers growing in all of the windows of the building. The group also found that Denmark was one of the few European countries where they could order milk with no worry of contamination. "Whenever we ordered milk in a restaurant, we were served with a whole pitcher of it."

During their stay in Denmark, the group visited the famous Tivoli Amusement Park. The park differs from the American conception of an amusement park in the forms of amusement offered. Entertainment for adults predominates in the Danish park, opposed to the usual entertainment for children at American amusement parks. The walks between concessions are lined with numerous gardens and the whole area is exceptionally clean.

The Campbell resident stated that the people of Denmark seemed to be quite well off and very friendly.

One of the odd customs noticed by the school teacher was the habit of older women in restaurants of lighting up small cigars after finishing their meal. During their stay they also visited Elsinore and went to Hamlet's castle. Contrary to the Shakespearean concept of the castle, the Campbell resident found the castle sunny and well lit with numerous windows. "While we were there, we watched a Danish theatrical company making preparations for the annual Hamlet Festival held each year at the castle."

The group then took the ferry to Helsingborg, Sweden, and motored to Stockholm. Miss McConnell described the country below Stockholm as extremely beautiful and dotted with numerous small lakes. The general aspect of the land is not as rugged as might be imagined, but is covered with rolling green hills with large amounts of wooded areas. One particular feature which was noticed was the habit of painting all the houses and barns of one farm a brick red. "So many of the houses and farm buildings were painted this color that it seemed as though it was the only color available for house painting." The group also noticed greater amounts of farm machinery than was present in any of the other countries of Europe.

All of the people of Sweden seemed to be well off and the land was noticeable for the absence of slum areas. "Even in the lower class dwellings, the government housing projects were remarkably well cared for. Rent was determined by the number of children in a family. "The residents of the country seemed to have suffered no ill effects of the war and their economy seemed to be exceptionally stable. "The women of Sweden were the best dressed of any European nation which we visited. The people seemed to have an abundance of food."

During their stay in Stockholm, the group found that they could read a newspaper by the light of the "midnight sun" at 1 a.m.

From Stockholm, the group motored to Oslo, Norway. They noticed the effect of war on the Norwegian people in their lack of clothing and the absence of precious metals. "Gold was almost impossible to find. We found that the women had no gold jewelry and noticed the absence of such small items as gold charms for charm bracelets." The Norwegians showed their lack of faith in their own money by refusing to change the Norwegian money of tourists back into American dollars or even into the money of another foreign country.

The group took a half day's trip north of Oslo and described the country as being dotted with lakes and high mountains.

During their return to Sweden, they stopped to watch a windmill in operation. The mill wheels and even the gears of the flour grinding machinery were made of wood. Throughout the whole building, generations of flour grinding had covered the interior with a fine coating of flour.

The group then boarded a ship in Copenhagen for Newcastle, England. From Newcastle, they visited Edinburgh, Scotland. Miss McConnell described the Scots as the friendliest people which she had met in her travels. While the people of Scotland are under the same economic conditions as the people of England, she said that the inhabitants in the country seemed to have a little more of the necessities than those of England. She visited the home of some residents of Edinburgh which had been hit by a bomb, but stated that fortunately, the bomb had failed to explode and had made a channel through the house from the second floor to the basement. While in Edinburgh, she spent much time in the shopping district and described many of the tartans which she had seen there.

The group visited the shipyards in Glasgow and stated that any war damage to the shipyards had been repaired.

From Glasgow the group took a trip to Loch Lomond, and described the country as having many low, rolling green hills.

From Scotland, the Campbell teacher returned to Liverpool and told of the extensive damage to the shipyards there.

During her stay in England, she visited Stratford on Avon and saw Shakespeare's birthplace and the cottage of Ann (Continued on page 6)

WEST VALLEY HOSPITAL BOND ELECTION—SEPTEMBER 18

In the event of a MAJOR DISASTER — or WAR, would YOU rather have your OWN district hospital to depend on — or be forced to depend on already overcrowded hospitals in neighboring cities?

1. Do We Need This Hospital?

"YES! Thousands of new homes have been built in the district. Saratoga Township has increased 129%, Redwood Township has increased 126%, and Campbell Township has increased approximately the same during the past 10 year period. New schools have been built and then doubled! But not one new hospital bed has been added WITHIN THE DISTRICT. Present building programs of other hospitals in the county are mainly replacing the old with the new, and the demand for hospital beds will still be far greater than the supply when the programs are completed. Population increase demands 31 new beds in the district EACH YEAR!"

2. Who will control the hospital?

"YOU will! Your hospital board is elected and operates in a manner similar to your local school board. It can and will provide that residents of the hospital district be given lower rates per day than non-residents. Other district hospitals now in operation charge $2.00 to $4.00 per patient day LESS than privately owned and operated hospitals in the same vicinity."

3. What about construction costs?

"Don't let anyone confuse you as to cost by comparing the cost of this proposed hospital with the cost of the new O'Connor hospital, which is a multi-story steel frame reinforced concrete structure on expensive land. The West Valley Hospital will be one-story of concrete brick wall construction, concrete slab floor with radiant heat. Less expensive, yet COMPLETE in every respect. It will cost the average home owner approximately $6 a year on his annual tax bill."

4. How are other district hospitals operating?

"A recent survey of 13 operating district hospitals in California disclosed the following facts:
(a) The hospitals vary in size from 14 to 88 beds.
(b) The average charge for private room in these hospitals is $13.15 per day. (The charge for a similar room in one of San Jose's larger hospitals is $17 to $18 per day.)
(c) The average charge for a two bed room in these hospitals is $10.40 per day. (The charge for a similar room in one of San Jose's larger hospitals is $15.)
(d) The average tax rate being charged for bond retirement by the districts is 15 cents on each $100 assessed valuation."

5. What is the district's daily average of hospital patients?

"During the preliminary planning for the West Valley Hospital, the doctors of the district were asked how many patients they had in San Jose hospitals, on two separate days. The first report showed 33 patients and on the second occasion it was 37. In addition to these patients, several doctors had patients in local rest homes because they were unable to secure beds for them in hospitals."

6. Must the hospital be 100% full at all times?

"No!! A hospital can operate successfully with 70 percent to 80 percent occupancy. (With this percentage it is considered filled. The balance of the beds are saved for emergencies.) A 50 bed hospital to be 70 percent occupied would have to have 35 patients. This is fewer than the average number hospitalized in San Jose from this district."

The young progressive growing families of West Valley Hospital District need this hospital. It can be built NOW for present cost estimates. Further delay will not save money! Be prepared and decentralize. It may be later than we think!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Opinions on any matter pertaining to the development and advancement of the Campbell community are welcomed by the Campbell Press, whether they be in accord with the editorial policy of the newspaper or not.—Ed.

September 5, 1951

Mr. Eugene Barnes,
Campbell Press,
Campbell, California

Dear Mr. Barnes:

Tuesday, September 18, is the day this community will have the opportunity to secure a modern fire-proof, single-story, fifty bed hospital. This hospital is to be located on San Tomas Road, just off the main highway near Vasona Junction. Here it will serve the greatest population needs. The citizens of Los Gatos, Saratoga, Cupertino, and surrounding territories are joining with the Campbell area to make this hospital possible.

There are no hospital facilities in this area for an estimated population of 55,000. I know the needs of this district from personal experience in trying to secure hospital service.

The cost of this project is about one-third of what we now pay to support the County Hospital, where a taxpayer is unable to obtain service. The cost to the average homeowner will not be more than six dollars a year.

Time may mean the difference between life or death to you or a member of your family. All local doctors are supporting this project 100 percent. They know that they can take better care of you in a nearby hospital.

Be sure and vote yes on these bonds.

San Jose Spartans Begin Football Practice This Week

San Jose State opened football practice this week with 69 candidates reporting to Spartan Coach Bob Bronzan.

Double workouts are the routine for the first seven days, a game scrimmage is scheduled on September 8, then double workouts will be resumed September 10 to 14.

Bronzan will again use the time schedule which proved successful last year. The Spartans report dressed for morning chalk talk at 6:30 a.m. After fruit juice, there is a field drill from 7-9 a.m.

Breakfast at 9 a.m., chalk talk at noon, lunch at 12:30 p.m. and chalk talk at 3 p.m. precede the afternoon two hour drill at 4:30 p.m. It's a busy schedule, but one which was highly successful last year. The early morning and late afternoon field drills were planned to provide maximum rest between sessions and to miss the worst part of the September heat.

Included among the 69 candidates reporting are 14 freshmen, 21 sophomores, 25 juniors and only nine seniors. Of the sophomores and juniors, 30 are transfers who are new to the Golden Raider system.

Thus Bronzan will have a major job of indoctrination and training before the Spartans meet their first opponent, USF, September 21 at San Francisco's Kezar Stadium.

The Golden Raiders will use three offensive styles—the T, the Split-T and single wing, Bronzan hopes to utilize the platoon system, but at least three men are virtually certain to go both ways. They are Kieth Carpenter, 234-lb. center, Gibby Mendonsa, all-purpose halfback, and veteran end Ray Pozneckoff.

Area Hospital Need Discussed At Campbell Meet

An estimated 60 people gathered at the Campbell Grammar school last Thursday night at the public forum held to discuss the proposed West Valley hospital. This is the second meeting in the series. One was held previously in Saratoga and another is planned in Los Gatos this week.

Five speakers were on the panel with Forrest A. Reese of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce acting as moderator. Proponents of the hospital were represented by Dr. A. R. Ness of Los Gatos, Gifford E. Sobey of the architectural firm of Sobey & Green, and Larue Sorensen, hospital consultant for the board.

J. Bradley Clayton, San Jose realtor and resident of Saratoga, and Dr. M. E. Pickworth, member of the O'Connor hospital building committee speaking as a Saratoga resident, spoke against the project.

Dr. Ness emphasized that the hospital was vitally needed and that the 19 practicing doctors in the district approved the project. He charged that the opponents have been "concentrating on confusing the issue." He reviewed figures showing that there is a considerable shortage of hospital beds and even after the current expansion programs for the two San Jose hospitals are completed a shortage will still remain.

Dr. M. E. Pickworth discussed costs of running a hospital in regard to salaries and supplies. He strongly urged that the board review its plans and get a new cost estimate before proceeding any further.

Gifford Sobey declared that architects don't get estimates by "reaching into the sky." He defended the plans and estimate of costs. "We have to know where we stand and cannot afford to take chances," he declared.

Bradley Clayton reiterated his previous contention that the hospital is not needed and voiced his prediction that it could not run in the black. He pointed out that the district hospital in Paso Robles was operating in the red so seriously that it never expects to get out.

Larue Sorensen, who worked with that district, said that the Paso Robles hospital problems were "not typical." He declared it was an experiment of state and federal agencies to meet a special situation. He explained that it had run into high construction costs by accepting an unsuitable site as a gift.

HOW'S THAT AGAIN ?

U. S. Defense Bond Drive Is Under Way

Emery Delmas, volunteer U. S. Defense Bond Chairman for Santa Clara County, today invited every resident of the county to become partners in the nation-wide Defense Bond Drive which began on Labor Day, September 3.

He said, "Defense is everybody's job. Every American is anxious to do his part. The opportunity is offered him in the coming Defense Bond Drive which is of utmost importance to the nation's financial preparedness. I invite every resident of the county to join with me as participating partners in an all-out Defense Bond sales campaign."

There are several ways in which everyone can participate in the Drive: 1. They may commence, or increase, their own Defense Bond purchases through the payroll savings plan at the firm where they are employed. 2. They may sign up at their bank for a Bond-A-Month purchase. 3. They may aid the volunteer committee by urging their friends and fellow workers to sign up for regular Defense Bond purchases on one or the other of these systematic saving plans. 4. Employers can help most by making the Payroll Savings Plan available to their employees.

Much of the active work in the Defense Bond Drive—which continues through October 27—will be accomplished through the volunteer assistance of business, labor, civic, fraternal and women's organizations.

"The two-fold objective of this Defense Bond Drive," said the county chairman, "is to strengthen our government's financial position for defense and to strengthen the financial position of every citizen through a planned thrift program. This will act as a strong barrier against inflation, during a time when inflation is one of our most dangerous internal enemies. It's an easy way for all of us to help our country's defense and at the same time we benefit ourselves."

Twelve tunnels and eight major bridges were constructed during the relocation of the railroad around Shasta Dam.

Hathaway. "Contrary to general belief, Ann Hathaway's cottage was not a cottage at all, but a 12-room farm house." The roof was beautifully thatched and the gardens were kept in the best of condition.

During her visit to London, she stopped at the Festival of Britain. "The festival was a little disappointing to us. While the architecture of the buildings was extremely modern, and the lighting was beautiful, the exhibits couldn't begin to measure up to one of the American expositions. Most of the displays were of modern kitchen equipment and similar items which are commonplace in the American home, but almost unknown in England."

Economic conditions have forced prices to a high point in England, but wages are comparatively low. "A streetcar conductor told us he was earning the equivalent of $16.80 per week and considered it a good wage, but we found that in some cases, prices were higher than they are in the United States."

Most of the stores had large displays of goods marked "For Export Only" but the English people could find little of those goods available for local consumption. Tourists, however, were allowed to purchase any of these goods which they desired. "The people who were working seemed to have better food than those who were not because they could eat ration free meals in cafeterias and lunch rooms where they worked."

From England, Miss McConnell traveled to Northern Ireland and visited Dublin. The people of Eire had an abundance of food but clothing seemed to be a difficult item to buy. "We saw the homes of what appeared to be very wealthy people but the residents of those buildings wore patched and mended clothes." From her short stay in Eire, Miss McConnell stated that the Irish people seem to have no middle class, but only a very well-to-do class and a poor class. "We even saw children begging in the streets of Dublin, a sight which we had not seen in any

Mark Purmort Returns Home After Trip East

Mr. Mark Purmort of N. 3rd street returned last week from a six weeks tour of the southern and midwestern states seeing many friends and relatives and visiting places of interest in various states.

Mr. Purmort left here August 8 with his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gillis, of Callahan Base, Washington, and traveling by car went by way of Los Angeles, Grand Canyon, Oklahoma, Chattanooga, Tennessee and Chickamagua Park, Georgia, where he and Mr. Gillis were camped during the Spanish-American War.

The travelers then visited Mr. Gillis's brother, J. H. Gillis, Sylvia, North Carolina, whom they had not seen in 33 years. Mr. Gillis had formerly worked for the Russian government in the capacity of civil engineer, and had many interesting comments to make on Russian political moves. After leaving Sylvia, Norfolk, Virginia was the next goal of the tourists and then a stop in Wilmington, Delaware, where they were guests of Mr. Gillis's sister, Mrs. Laurence Livingston.

Niagara Falls, and friends and relatives in Galion, Ohio, where Mrs. Purmort and another sister, Mrs. F. Bean in Madison, Wisconsin.

The last stop for Mr. Purmort was Minneapolis, Minn., where he spent two weeks visiting friends and relatives before flying back by way of Denver. Mr. Purmort stated that it was very hot in Norfolk and very rainy in Wisconsin, while the entire midwest seems to be experiencing a very cool summer.

During his absence from his Campbell home, Mr. Purmort's sister, Mrs. Ada Hart, stayed here and will be here for several weeks yet before returning to her Glendale home.

Campbell Man Returns From Trip To Mexico

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gallegos, owner of Personality Haircuts, Campbell, returned last week from a three-week vacation in Mexico. They were accompanied by Gallegos's brother-in-law, Louis Olvera, and his wife and family. During their trip they visited Chihuahua City, Durango, Guadalajara, Morelia, spent four days in Mexico City, one day in Puebla. On their return trip, they motored through Queretaro, Leon, San Luis Potosi and Monterey and returned by way of Laredo, Texas.

The group visited the castle of Chapultepec, occupied by Maximilian during his reign. The castle is the site of the surrender of the of the other European countries which we visited."

During her stay, she visited Killarney and saw the Lakes of Killarney. "Eire is as green as I had pictured it, with low rolling hills throughout. We saw many carts there and noticed the absence of motor vehicles."

Mexican troops during the Mexican-American war. Gallegos stated that the castle was now used as a museum and commented on the fine furniture of the Louis IV period in the building.

During their stay in Mexico City, the group attended several bull fights and took colored motion pictures of them. While in Guadalajara, they visited a religious carnival. Gallegos stated that he saw the finest display of fireworks in his life at the carnival. "The fireworks formed huge figures in the sky."

The Campbell resident stated he saw much less poverty in Mexico than he had seen during a previous trip twenty years ago. "We found the highways to be excellent with fine tourist accommodations in almost every town. The people seemed to be very friendly and treated us with the utmost of courtesy."

While in Mexico City, the group also visited the Palacio de Bellas Artes, Mexican opera house and museum. "We saw many fine paintings and museum pieces in the opera house," Gallegos said.

Two Cash Awards Offered For Papers

Two cash awards of $150 each are again being offered to writers of best papers on any phase of tuberculosis, according to Frank Lewis, president of the Santa Clara County Tuberculosis association.

"Any resident of California may enter the competition," Lewis said. "One, the Higby Memorial Award, is given for the best non-medical paper about tuberculosis. It can be on personal experience, or some sociological or psychological aspect of the disease."

"The other," he continued, "the Trudeau Society Award, goes for the best technical or medical paper. It can be an account of an original medical research project, laboratory study, or clinical findings."

American Business Behind The Scenes

By Reynolds Knight

In the six years since VJ Day, American genius has produced a truly impressive array of mechanical and scientific products that have made life more enjoyable—and in some respects longer—and have meant more and better business.

In medicine and food, astounding new developments every couple of months are taken almost for granted. Textile makers have brought out new synthetics to enhance the quality, appearance and utility of clothing, draperies, upholstery and other fabrics. New appliances and devices are making the home more comfortable than ever before.

In the air, engineers have developed the reversible pitch propeller, which virtually guarantees greater plane safety, while on the ground automotive engineers have taken the most practical car of all, the station wagon, and brought it within reach of the average man's pocketbook. This came about when an unsung inventor got the bright idea of making station wagons with all-steel bodies, instead of expensive wood.

Ultimately, of course, we can expect that Joe Stalin will claim these and numerous other developments and inventions as his very own; but meanwhile it's the Americans who are using and enjoying them.

THINGS TO COME—Look for another new toothpaste in your local drug store soon, this one to contain penicillin. A Youngstown, Ohio, firm is marketing a set of children's building blocks which can be put together to form a complete village, including trees. For the slightly older child, a Los Angeles company has a horse-race game. It consists of an inclined track and set of four plastic horses, motivated by a Mexican Jumping bean under the saddle of each. Newest blessing for the traveling girl is a portable steam and dry electric iron which will soon appear on the market.

TEAMWORK MOVES VEGETABLES — When the Vegetable Growers Association of America, which represents the nation's 600,000 commercial vegetable producers, selected August 5-11 as National Vegetable week, its object naturally was to dramatize the importance of vegetables in the nation's diet and bring about a record volume of produce sales. But apparently the week has had a second valuable result in the efficient hand-in-hand cooperation of agriculture and industry. Max Chambers of Preston, Md., spokesman for the growers, cited the teamwork of many large companies in boosting vegetable sales. Supplies were good and quality high during the week, it is reported.

KANSAS CITY FIGHTS BACK — For the past month, businessmen throughout the nation have been keeping a sharp eye on Kansas City—and marveling at the city's remarkable recovery from the worst flood in its history.

A little over a month ago, the raging waters dumped tons of mud and debris on a sizable portion of the city's vast industrial area. Today, practically all of the affected businessmen and industrial firms, whose products range from biscuits to big machinery, are back in operation. Grain shipments into the city were resumed two weeks to the day after the disaster. Before July was over, beef slaughtering had been recommenced, and trading at the Kansas City stockyards were resumed on August 6. Railroad, airline and truck transportation facilities recovered rapidly, and companies in the chemical, sheet metal, paint, soap, dairy supply, tractor, automotive and varied other fields all are producing at close to normal levels.

As an indication of the esteem in which the nation's business and industrial leaders hold the famed "Kansas City Spirit," the Chamber of Commerce points out that conventions planned there this month will be held as scheduled. Not one cancellation was received from the nine organizations planning conventions, even though two of them had to be moved back a week or two because of the flood.

BITS O' BUSINESS — A new method of producing cortisone, said to simplify the process and yield 50 times the amount which could be manufactured from the same amount of cattle bile source material two years ago, has been perfected by a leading pharmaceutical house. New York department store sales dropped to 14 per cent below 1950 levels in the week ended August 3. Agriculture Department expects that the nation's wheat supply in the marketing year that started July 1 will be the fourth largest in history.

More About . . .

Incorporation Questions

intendant has been announced as $3,000.

Q. Who chooses the officers of a new city? Who puts up their names for vote?

A. At the time the board of county supervisors set the date for the special election for incorporation, the date is also set for filing petitions to run for the various city offices. Anyone may file for these offices if residents of the area, etc.

Q. How can a new city develop new streets and keep up the already improved roads without the expensive equipment and housing for that equipment?

A. It would of course be impossible to put in new streets and maintain the old ones without adequate equipment. A city however receives a considerable sum of money from the state for road purposes. California state law guarantees that the major portion of these state grants and subventions must go for street maintenance and improvement.

Q. If the fire house can be used as a city hall does the city have to pay the fire department for the use?

A. Providing that the city boundaries completely encompass the fire district lines the fire district is automatically dissolved and all fire district property then becomes the property of the newly established city.

Q. Why didn't the proposed boundaries stretch out over more territory thereby gaining more revenue and relieving each taxpayer?

A. Additional territory does not necessarily mean that city taxpayers will benefit thereby. In many cases additional territory would be a definite handicap to the taxpayer. Let us take the case of the portion of Cambrian originally included in the boundaries for example. According to the best figures available the revenue from Cambrian taxes would have been approximately $15,000, the expense to adequately serve the district under city administration would have been approximately $45,000. Additional area, as you can see, unless assessed high enough becomes a burden instead of an asset.

Q. Would incorporation bring big business or industry?

A. That would largely be determined by the men and women that you elect to serve you as city officials. A certain pattern of city planning would be set up to conform with the wishes and the best interest of the community.

Q. What happens to the county fire protection if we incorporate?

A. If incorporated, fire protection becomes the responsibility of the City of Campbell.

Q. Does our garbage disposal remain the same?

A. That is also a question that of necessity must be answered by your elected representatives. Some cities maintain their own services. Others enter into contracts with private companies for garbage disposal.

Q. Would the taxes we pay now plus what extra would be added should the bill No. 3217 be passed, be more or less than under incorporation?

A. To the best of our knowledge the exact tax has not been determined if an "Urban Unincorporated Areas" bill is passed. In all probability the cost to the average home owner would be pretty much the same under the new bill should it pass as it would be under incorporation. You would not however, have home rule.

for buildings, and $85,000 for reserve. The land has been bought and paid for and there are funds on hand to pay architects and consultants fees, insurance and other attendant costs.

"Cost to the average home owner will be approximately 20 cents per $100 assessed valuation the first year and less each year thereafter as the bonds are retired. This will cost approximately $4.00 to $5.00 to the average home owner. It is important to remember that these estimates are based on an estimated assessed valuation for the district of 38 million dollars. Actual valuation is 41 million dollars. This will mean of course, that actual costs to the people will be considerable less than the above quoted figures."

Plans for the hospital call for a 50 bed hospital with eventual expansion to 100 beds at a minimum cost; kitchens, storage areas, laboratory rooms, surgical rooms and other equipment and facilities necessary for the operation of a hospital. The hospital will be located on a ten acre site near Vasona junction.

A $750,000 bond election will be held September 18 to raise the necessary money needed for the construction of the hospital and purchase of necessary equipment and payment of other costs involved.

The plan for a West Valley Hospital District and hospital originated in the Los Gatos Kiwanis Club approximately four years ago.

Jeanette Collins Returns From Tour Of Mexico

Miss Jeanette Collins of Campbell returned from a six-week motor tour of Mexico recently. While in Mexico, the Campbell resident stayed with her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gerome de Rollins.

Miss Collins described many of the sights in the various towns which she visited and highlighted her visit to the town of Puebla with a description of the tile made in that region. "Many of the homes of the town were faced with the Puebla tile. The Cathedral of San Francisco was also faced with the colorful tile." In Puebla, she also visited the fort, site of the battle of Cinco de Mayo when the Mexican troops defeated the forces of Maximilian in 1875. The Campbell resident stated that many of the old guns were still intact.

She also visited the resort town of Cuernavaca, south of Mexico City. The town is noted for its street markets. Also on their itinerary was the winter resort town of Acapulco. To reach the town, they had to travel through the uplands before dropping down on the sea coast. She stated that the swimming was very good night and day, and commented on the beauty of the harbor.

The group came home by way of Guadalajara, second largest city in Mexico.

Miss Collins stated that there seemed to be no large middle class as we have in the United States, but a wealthy and very poor class. "The poor people in the cities are much worse off than the poor in the country, because they lack the advantage of being able to raise some of their own food. The wages are also very low in the poorer class."

More About Police and Fire Protection

a limited force as is likely to be employed by the city of Campbell will soon bring disrepute upon the entire city administration. It takes time and money to train raw recruits and there is the ever present danger of the city becoming involved in expensive litigation because of illegal arrest, etc. And last, but not least, nothing is more disgusting to the public than to see some "badge-happy" and "gun-toting" ignoramus "strutting his stuff" up and down Campbell avenue, daring anyone to cross his path or to look upon his lordly arrogance with anything but servile admiration. Promiscuous arrests for trivial offenses will gain nothing but ill-will. Firmness applied with fairness and justice will result in respect and cooperation of the entire community.

The position of chief of police carries with it a full responsibility for the conduct and actions of all police officers and for the operation of the entire police department of Campbell. In the instant case, the chief is also expected to assume the duties of a regular working officer. In addition, he is to make inspections of licenses (not a collector) and to perform such other duties as may be assigned to him by the city council. The police department of Campbell will be entirely too small for the duties of a chief to consist only of supervision and a desk job.

The purpose of providing for part-time officers is that such officers will be available in case of: (1) emergency; (2) prevent disruption of normal protection service due to absence of regular officers; (3) to create a trained reserve for replacements; (4) to furnish special police on a "charge for service" basis; and, (5) to avoid necessity for accepting volunteer officers.

The principal objections to use of volunteer policemen are somewhat analogous to those raised when raw recruits are placed in battle-front positions during war times. They are: (1) untrained; (2) have little or no knowledge of correct procedure; (3) are not tractable; (4) the "old-timer" resents their presence; and, (5) they have little or nothing to lose when discharged for incompetency or insubordination. In fact, their "bread and butter" does not depend on good service or necessity for holding down this job. All they lose is a little authority, a little fun, and a little excitement.

The items of maintenance and operating expenses as listed are merely approximations. The actual expenditures will be governed entirely by prevailing conditions and circumstances. In this connection, it will be noted that no provision is made to cover cost of prisoner transport. This is a contingency so utterly dependent upon an uncertain future event that no attempt is made at this time to make an estimate.

The following tabulation indicates cost experience of other cities.

	Police dept.	Fire dept.	Other protect.	Outlays	Total

Prices to the Americans were quite reasonable, the Campbell resident stated, and said that one might stay in a first class hotel in Acapulco for six dollars a day including meals. "The main highways in Mexico are comparable to our own second class roads. They are well paved but have only two lanes. The country roads are far inferior to ours and would be dangerous to travel on."

She commented on the number of modern buildings in many of the Mexican cities and stated that the Mexican people are progressing very rapidly and have a great future ahead of them.

The group was treated with courtesy wherever they traveled and Miss Collins stated that the people were very friendly.
